I have worked in the catering and hospitality industry for over 6 years, providing exceptional customer service and creating memorable experiences for guests. However, I have a growing interest in the power of technology and the opportunities it provides to streamline processes and improve the guest experience. That's why I am eager to transition into web development and build dynamic and user-friendly websites. To facilitate this, I have recently graduated from a coding Traineeship as a web developer and UI Designer including completing real-world projects successfully to specification using a wide range of programming languages.

I possess strong attention to detail and an eye for design, which allows me to create visually appealing and user-friendly web interfaces. I am also a quick learner and always strive to stay up to date with the latest front-end technologies and trends, making me a valuable asset to any development team. These attributes, combined with my passion for technology and problem-solving, make me a strong candidate for the front-end developer role.
